

TAKE THE LONG WAY!

LONG WAY ROUND: In 2004, actors Ewan McGregor (of Star Wars fame) and Charley Boorman singlehandedly gave rise to the Adventure Touring segment of motorcycling with their 19,000 mile "Long Way Round" ride from London to New York.

LONG WAY DOWN: The subsequent TV show chronicling their journey through Europe, Russia, Mongolia, Kazakhstan, Siberia and then North America became a hit and spawned a sequel a few years later called "Long Way Down" which saw the boys go from the northern tip of Scotland to Capetown, South Africa.

LONG WAY UP: Sixteen years later they suited up again to take on the challenge of riding the "Long Way Up" from the Southern Tip of South America to Los Angeles. This time the challenge was doing the entire ride on LiveWire electric motorcycles! When the news of their bike choice broke, the negative swell was quick to rise, but it was a smart move on their part to create a fresh and entertaining show and get the likes of Harley-Davidson on board.

McGregor is a big proponent of the new "wave" of electric transportation and wanted to show the viability of the technology in the most challenging of circumstances. Patagonia and Bolivia were especially difficult as the Andean Plateau is known for its rough roads and little-to-no modern amenities.

Watch this interview with Jimmy Fallon and hear what they did when they ran out of juice. Very funny! <http://getmore-info.com/longwayup>

The Red Knights Motorcycle Club is a social club for firefighters and their families who enjoy riding motorcycles. Members share the camaraderie of other firefighters while promoting the positive image of motorcycling through social, charitable and educational activities. The club was established in 1982, and there are now over 10,000 members in 325 chapters worldwide.

The Axemen Motorcycle Club was founded in 1998. The purpose of forming this club was to have a club exclusive to IAFF members, working and or retired. Their group shares the Brotherhood of both firefighting and motorcycling and the traditions that come with both. The Axemen nation has now grown to comprise 33 chapters in 16 states across the country.

The IAFF Motorcycle Group was created in 2004. They are a motorcycle group ("not" a motorcycle club) designed to bring together active and retired members and members of recognized affiliates from across the International union and to promote fraternalism among the IAFF's ranks. Over 4,700 IAFF members have joined the Motorcycle Group over the last several years.

A special shout out to the firemen who wear cuts when they are not in firefighting gear. Helping others is part of who they are, in and out of uniform. These firefighters say giving back is in their blood. "I think that's how we're built, that's how we're wired," says one Axemen member.

Firefighter motorcycle clubs are among the most giving groups of riders. They hold many charity events throughout the year, donating money to organizations such as burn camps for children, hospitals, and medical research (cancer, Parkinson's, ALS, etc). They do fundraisers to provide books and school supplies for kids and are involved in many other worthy causes.

How many members of these clubs have you met? We thank them for their service!

GREAT GEAR:

Cortech Motorcycle Gloves

CORTECH HECKLER LEATHER
MOTORCYCLE GLOVES
REVIEW //

Cortech Motorcycle Gloves have found a sweet spot between form and function all while keeping the price in a reasonable range. Their flagship gloves, the Heckler, is a classic café racer-inspired design made from goatskin leather. For long distance touring, where you can't count on the weather and you want more protection, the Scarab is an excellent option. With more wrist coverage, a waterproof liner, abrasion-resistant goatskin leather and molded knuckles the Scarab provides an impressive package for the price point.

But the options don't end there. Cortech has an excellent selection to choose from to make your next ride as comfortable as possible.

BIKE REVIEW:

2020 Harley-Davidson Road Glide CVO

Power is the name of the CVO game and the Road Glide delivers in spades with both the Milwaukee-Eight 117 engine and the BOOM GTS Infotainment system. They added controls from their popular new Kahuna style line, as well as the color-matched fang front spoiler which gives the bike a sleek custom look. The Road Glide CVO starts at a hefty $40,999, but this isn't just a motorcycle, it is a work of art worthy of going on display. What do you think of the bike? Send us your comments!
