

TIMELINE FOR A PERSONAL INJURY CASE

Negotiation Phase

Average Time Period: 2 Months

CLIENT'S RESPONSIBILITY: FOCUS ON HEALING

If a doctor recommends care, the client must continue to treat with doctors throughout the Negotiation Phase, so we can prove your injuries.

LAW FIRM'S RESPONSIBILITY: FOCUS ON YOUR CASE

- Your attorney negotiates with the insurance company to try to settle your case without the need to file a lawsuit
- Firm, Client, and insurance company agree to the settlement of your case. Firm receives insurance company's release and a settlement check

LIFE CYCLE OF A PERSONAL INJURY CASE: AVERAGE DURATION- 1-4 YEARS

The time it takes to resolve a case depends on the length of medical treatment and whether the insurance company purposely delays or denies the claim. Next is the Closing/Settlement Phase, unless the Negotiation Phase fails and Firm and Client decide to file a lawsuit.
